

Looks for postal addresses, parcel shipping numbers and other items on the current page

May 15, 2008

Lire en Français

In This Issue

- Back to Home
- CCNA Discovery/Exploration – Experts Tell You What You Need to Know about Teaching the New Curricula
- Why do You Need to Use English in the Lab?
- What Do Your Students Need to Know about Campus Networks?
- Are You a Web 2.0 Instructor?

Have Your Say

We have just re-launched Multicast. Instructor News. As always, your feedback is really important to us. Please let us what you think!

- The entire newsletter was interesting and useful
- Only the Academy News was interesting to me
- Only IT in Focus was interesting to me
- Only Coffee Break was interesting to me
- I did not find anything...

Coffee Break

Are You a Web 2.0 Instructor?

How much do you really know? Could you tell the difference between a hub and a switch? Is it time you went back to college or could you teach our Cisco experts a thing or two?

You've done the courses, read the manuals and attended the conference. You've kept up with the latest releases and you've blogged, slogged and said goodbye to analogue. But have you become a web 2.0 instructor? How well do you know your networking? Take the test and find out....

- 1) What is the difference between a hub and a switch?
 - a) A hub uses shared access to the network, while switch provides dedicated access per port.
 - b) A hub provides faster access than a switch.
 - c) A switch provides fewer features than a hub.
 - d) A switch has on and off-ability. A hub does not.
- 2) What is Power over Ethernet (PoE)?
 - a) A file-sharing application.
 - b) A faster way to send data on the Internet.
 - c) A technology for a switch to provide power to a device on a port.
 - d) A mind controlling substance used in advertising.
- 3) For Discovery and Exploration, where in the curriculum is the maintenance release number denoted?
 - a) on the course Splash page (the front page).
 - b) on the top of every page by the course title.
 - c) through the About link on the bottom of every page.